

19 AUGUST 2008

PLANTED

You always want what you can't have, and for one that lives in a condo, that's a yard. Everyday I drive down Pacific Coast Highway and pass a cute little studio, Front Porch Creations. Front Porch specializes in designing outdoor living spaces that complement the architecture of the home as well as the tastes of the homeowner. I love their landscaping and the thoughtful hardscapes in their outdoor rooms. Tasteful furnishings and accessories complete these desirable spaces; my poor little patio pales in comparison.

I asked designer Chris Fenmore to share some of her thoughts on hardscape, which is so easily overlooked by the do-it-yourselfer. Check back tomorrow for her post!

Hope this inspires those of you determined to finish up landscaping before summer's end!

POSTED BY STETSON